We compile mentions from a variety of sources, including news sites, blogs and social networks. Plus, highlight the most positive and negative mentions using automated sentiment analysis.

Generate new positive reviews and deals with negative ones. We pull in results from major review websites to view overall scores. You can act on which keywords your customers are using to describe your business.

JETREP reports break down how your business is faring in online conversations and helps you understand engagement as part service. Alerts are also sent when new info is found and collated.
